CHALLENGE

DERAILERS AND PERSONALITY-BASED PERFORMANCE RISKS

Report for: Doe Jane

ID: HC100513

Date: April 28, 2014

INTRODUCTION

The Leadership Forecast Challenge Report is designed to help you develop as a leader. It will provide insights about your behavior that could potentially undermine or inhibit your performance. It then offers suggestions for leading people more effectively.

Leadership involves building and maintaining a high-performing team. Anything that detracts from your ability to build a team also detracts from your performance as a leader.

This report is based on the Hogan Development Survey (HDS). The results are based on our global leadership research, and are written for professionals and leaders.

Anything that detracts from your ability to build a team also detracts from your performance as a leader.

BACKGROUND

When under pressure, most people will display certain counterproductive tendencies. We refer to these as "risk factors." Under normal conditions these characteristics may actually be strengths. However, when you are tired, pressured, bored, or otherwise distracted, these risk factors may impede your effectiveness and erode the quality of your relationships with customers, colleagues, and direct reports. Others may be aware of these tendencies but may not give you any feedback about them. Your boss may even ignore them.

This report is divided into three sections. First, there is a graphic representation of your profile. Second, you will find a scale-by-scale interpretation of your scores. Scores between the 90th and 100th percentile are in the High Risk Zone, scores between the 70th and 89th percentiles are in the Moderate Risk Zone, scores between the 40th and 69th percentile are in the Low Risk Zone and scores between the 0 to 39th percentile are in the No Risk Zone. The third section provides developmental recommendations for areas where you scored in the Moderate and/or High Risk Zones. No developmental recommendations are provided for scores in the No Risk and Low Risk Zones.

HOW DO RISK FACTORS DEVELOP?

Research indicates that leaders develop risk factors while learning to deal with parents, peers, relatives and others early in life. Behavior developed while you were young may become habitual and you may be unaware that you behave in certain ways.

WAYS TO USE THIS INFORMATION

First, read the report carefully and decide which developmental suggestions apply to you. Mark those items with a plus (+), and put a minus (-) by those items to which you cannot relate. Second, invite feedback from peers, direct reports, and even family. Discuss your insights with them, and ask for reactions. A key ingredient for developing new leadership skills is enlisting the support of your direct reports, peers, and boss. Finally, study the developmental suggestions provided at the end of the report. These suggestions are offered for scores in the Moderate or High Risk Zones (i.e., scores at or above the 70th percentile).

LEADERSHIP CHALLENGE PROFILE

Excitable

Concerns being overly enthusiastic about people or projects, and then becoming disappointed with them.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the HIGH RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem intense and energetic, but volatile and sometimes explosive.
- May quit when frustrated.
- Yell when angry.
- Overreact to criticism.
- Often seem to understand when others are stressed.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Your intensity and energy about new projects will have a positive impact on your organization. However, your tendency toward emotional displays could erode your credibility, your ability to coach others, and your effectiveness to work as part of a team. Your boss will probably be impressed with your enthusiasm for new projects, but may notice your tendency to become discouraged when things don't work out. Your moodiness may make you seem unpredictable and hard to read.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- COMPOSURE : In high-pressure situations, your coworkers may see you as unpredictable and emotional. In addition, you tend to become upset by unexpected demands and may say things that you regret later. As a result, your coworkers could hesitate to approach you with problems because they don't know how you will react.
- FAIRNESS TO OTHERS : When you are frustrated with projects, you may tend to give up on them. This could blind side the other people who are working on them.
- PERSEVERANCE : Your enthusiasm for people and projects may fade when you meet setbacks, resistance, challenges, and potential failure. You may not press long enough to get things done; if so, this can be perceived as a lack of perseverance.

Skeptical

Concerns being socially insightful, but cynical and overly sensitive to criticism.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the HIGH RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Are very insightful about people and politics.
- Are alert for signs of betrayal or disrespect.
- Seem argumentative and easily offended.
- Expect to be mistreated.
- Retaliate when they feel wronged.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You are perceptive about others' intentions and a shrewd observer of organizational politics. These qualities can be a major asset in your career. However, you may also tend to focus on the negative, overreact to perceived threats, become argumentative when you feel slighted, and take critical feedback personally. You may become too concerned about organizational politics. These tendencies can interfere with your ability to build and sustain relationships and appreciate others' viewpoints. A tendency to be suspicious and argumentative could also cause others to perceive you as difficult and uncooperative.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- INFLUENCING AND PERSUADING OTHERS : You may seem suspicious of others' intentions. If so, then this will limit your ability to influence, persuade, and inspire them to take action.
- OPENNESS TO IDEAS : You may react to new ideas by arguing and pointing out how they won't work. This tendency will make others defensive and lead to difficulty in gaining their consensus or approval.
- OBJECTIVITY : You may seem set in your ways and unable to appreciate viewpoints different from your own.

Cautious

Concerns being overly worried about being criticized.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the LOW RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem confident and mature.
- Seem unafraid of failure.
- Experiment with new methods and technologies.
- Handle disappointments well.
- Accept new challenges.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

Because of your positive attitude, confidence, and optimism, you should be willing to accept difficult challenges and make difficult decisions. You are also willing to experiment and try new things, which enables you to manage your career in a proactive way. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- DECISIVENESS : You seem to be confident in your judgment and decision-making ability. Be sure to communicate the rationale for your decisions to others.
- ACTION ORIENTATION : You seem willing to make mistakes and move on when trying to get things done.
- LEADING WITH CONFIDENCE : Your decisiveness and confidence should inspire others to follow. Be certain that your decisions are well thought out because others will tend to follow you, based on your confidence.

- Seem independent, tough, reserved, and detached.
- Tend to act without consulting others.
- May misinterpret feedback.
- Seem stiff around strangers.
- Handle criticism and pressure with ease.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You are not thin-skinned and you can tolerate conflict and criticism better than most people. However, you may also seem indifferent to others' problems. If so, then this will inhibit your ability to build relationships and manage people. Bosses and subordinates may find you hard to read, and they may not know where they stand with you. Moreover, under pressure you may stop communicating, leaving your staff confused about what you want.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- MOTIVATING OTHERS : Your direct and straightforward manner may sometimes seem blunt and could de-motivate your subordinates.
- RELATIONSHIP BUILDING : Under stress, you may seem withdrawn and aloof, which will put a strain on relationships.
- APPROACHABILITY : Under pressure, you may tend to be difficult to reach. As a result, you may be perceived as an "absent leader" when the pressure mounts, even though you think you are fully engaged.

You scored in the HIGH RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Have good social skills and make a positive first impression.
- Seem cooperative but covertly feel mistreated.
- Privately challenge the competence of top management.
- Become irritated when interrupted.
- Procrastinate and put off projects for people they don't like.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

As a leader, you have good social skills and others rarely know how you really feel. You can be irritable when interrupted or given additional assignments; you may then drag your feet, put off tasks, and generally resist requests for extra effort. This could impair your ability to build relationships and manage others. You can effectively coach people you like, but may be unwilling to help those you do not. Similarly, you will accept advice and feedback from bosses you like, but silently reject influence from bosses you do not respect. You may not always enjoy being part of a team and may sometimes resist when asked to participate.

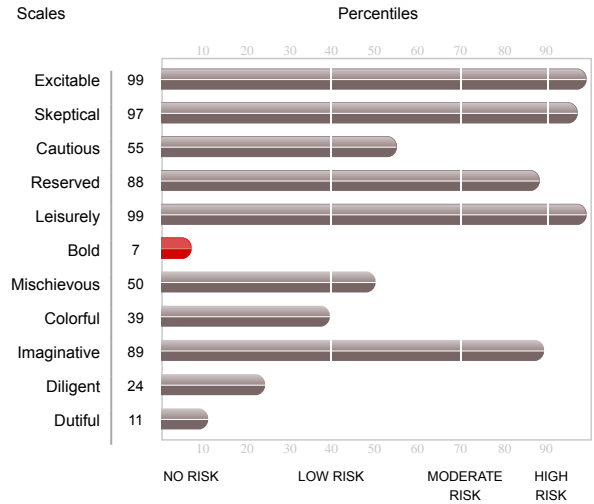

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- FOSTERING TEAMWORK : Under pressure you may tend to ignore others' timelines and focus on your own goals and priorities. This may inhibit effective teamwork and cause others to doubt your commitment.
- COOPERATION AND TIMELY RESULTS : Although you may overtly agree to complete tasks, if you don't see the relevance, you may procrastinate and not follow through. This may limit your effectiveness in meeting your commitments and producing timely results.
- BUILDING TRUST : When pressed about an issue, you may withhold your true opinions or ideas. Others may see this as support for the issue and believe that you will perform as needed.

Bold

Concerns having inflated views of one's competency and worth.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the NO RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem modest and unpretentious.
- Seem unlikely to interrupt, criticize, or challenge others.
- Avoid self-promotion.
- Accept responsibility for failures and mistakes.
- Lack a sense of entitlement.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You have a modest and unpretentious style and you should work well with a variety of bosses. You have a realistic view of your competence and importance, which will enhance your credibility. You may be reluctant to give others feedback on their poor performance, but probably would do so when asked. Your career plans may not be very aggressive, and you may be reluctant to nominate yourself for a key role in the future of the business, preferring to wait for others to notice your contributions. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- SEEING PERSPECTIVE : Although you have ideas about how to develop new business, you may not promote them with sufficient vigor.
- PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT : You will listen to feedback and be willing to ask others (peers, stakeholders, etc.) for evaluations of your performance. This openness will facilitate your development.
- DRIVE FOR RESULTS : Your natural modesty and self-restraint may cause you to hold back and to set your aspiration level too low.

Mischievous

Concerns being charming, risk-taking, and excitement-seeking.

BEHAVIORAL IMPLICATIONS

You scored in the LOW RISK ZONE on this scale. Leaders with similar scores:

- Seem dependable and self-disciplined.
- Think before they act.
- Communicate through the appropriate channels.
- Maintain commitments.
- Rarely take unnecessary chances.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You tend to avoid taking unnecessary risks and others see you as trustworthy. This will enhance your ability to build a team and manage others. You will be a planful mentor, and will manage your own career in a way that minimizes risk. Your boss should respect your judgment and appreciate your reliability. You don't press the limits and you will tend to make high quality, low risk decisions. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- DECISION QUALITY : You don't take unnecessary risks, and can be counted on to make decisions that optimize outcomes and minimize mistakes.
- RISK TAKING : You will not take on speculative projects without appropriate consideration and analysis. At the same time, you may tend to avoid taking appropriate risks, and this could cause you to miss opportunities to enhance your career.
- LEARNING FROM EXPERIENCE : You pay attention to the consequences of your actions and reflect on past experience as a guide to future decisions and behavior. You may be reluctant to take action in situations where you have no experience from which to draw.

- Don't mind letting others take the lead.
- Seem able to stay on task.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You are a quiet person who rarely engages in self-promotion. Your modesty and willingness to listen will make you a trusted and credible manager. However, your staff may want you to be more visible and take a higher profile from time to time. You may be reluctant to give feedback and career advice, preferring to be asked first. You should work well with a variety of bosses who will respect your understated style. Your career may not advance as rapidly as it should due to your reluctance to advertise your success. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- CELEBRATING SUCCESS : You tend not to engage in self-promotion. As a leader however, it will be important for you to celebrate and promote the accomplishments and achievements of your staff.
- BUILDING MORALE : As a leader, your modesty could lead you to miss opportunities to cheer up and encourage your team members. Although you might not require a lot of recognition, your subordinates will appreciate your paying attention to them and their achievements.
- SELF-DEVELOPMENT : You may not actively seek development opportunities for yourself or your staff. Without encouragement and support for learning experiences, the productivity of the group will diminish. Think strategically about how you can develop the skills of yourself and your staff.

- Have unusual and impractical ideas.
- See things differently.
- Change focus quickly.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

As a leader, you will be dynamic, on the move, and create ideas for change. Your staff will appreciate your imagination and informal style, but may find your rapid changes of focus disconcerting. As a coach, you will have a lot of suggestions for your staff. However, some may consider your ideas unrealistic. Your boss may appreciate your originality and fresh ideas, but may be less tolerant of changes of direction and lack of follow through. On the other hand, you will be a good source of ideas for vision and strategic planning.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- PROVIDING CLEAR DIRECTION : Under pressure, your unique communication style may leave others unclear about your expectations and directions.
- CREATIVITY : You are a source of original thinking and creative imagination, even when under pressure. However, some of your ideas may seem impractical and unusual.
- STAYING FOCUSED : When you are being pressured to solve a problem, you may seem distractible and not always focused.

- Do not micromanage their staff.
- Routinely delegate tasks.
- Tend to be flexible.
- Prioritize tasks appropriately.

LEADERSHIP IMPLICATIONS

You seem relatively relaxed and undemanding, and your tolerance and willingness to delegate should make you popular with your subordinates. This is because they sense that they are trusted. In addition, your delegating will give your staff opportunities to learn. Bosses like your tolerant, flexible, and forbearing attitude, but may wish you would pay more attention to the details of the business. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- DEALING WITH AMBIGUITY : You seem able to remain flexible and keep your options open, even when you are being pressured for results.

You will work best with bosses who appreciate taking initiative, acting, and challenging. Although you are willing to stick up for your staff, you may not always be perceived as a team player. In planning business strategy, you will be willing to take unpopular positions. You have no leadership development issues in this area.

COMPETENCY ANALYSIS

- CONFRONTING CONFLICT : You seem unafraid of conflict and are willing to confront poor performers and give them feedback.
- ACTING INDEPENDENTLY : You seem comfortable taking initiative, acting, and challenging the assumptions of others when appropriate.
- SUPPORTING YOUR STAFF : You seem willing to challenge your boss on behalf of your staff, which is important because loyalty goes both ways.

DEVELOPMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

The following developmental recommendations concern the dimensions where your score was in the MODERATE or HIGH RISK ZONE.

Excitable

- First remember your strengths--when you are at your best, you are an active, energetic, and interesting person who can infuse intensity and purpose in an organization. If you can learn to control your tendency to be annoyed or discouraged and modify the way you express your emotions, you will be even more helpful to others.
- Second, listen closely to feedback from people you trust; this will be particularly helpful in allowing you to persevere when you become discouraged about a person or a project and begin to think about breaking off your participation.
- Third, recognize that you tend to get overly enthusiastic about people or projects. Reflect on this tendency and learn to control your initial excessive burst of enthusiasm. That way, you will reduce the likelihood of being discouraged later.
- Fourth, remember that being overly emotional can send unintended messages to your team and affect their productivity and performance.
- Finally, encourage yourself to stick with your plans and strategies and "sweat out" the difficult periods when you might get discouraged. Change your expectations from "I knew this wouldn't work" to "Things aren't going well, I need to think about why, and what to do next to keep them moving forward." The more often you persist in solving your problems, the more you will build a reputation of being steady and reliable.

Skeptical

- When you are at your best, you are a perceptive and insightful judge of people and you have a superior understanding of organizational politics. You are a good resource for identifying potential hidden agendas and for analyzing and solving social and political problems.
- You will tend to distrust your coach; you should suspend judgment and give your coach a chance to try to help you. The same is true for others who care about you--you need to make an extra effort to appreciate what they are telling you and why.
- Be careful how you communicate with others. When you believe you are expressing honest opinions, others may see you as being argumentative. Be open to other points of view.
- You should try to be less critical and judgmental. Tell a trusted friend that you are trying to become more tolerant. Ask him/her to tell you when you are being excessively critical, defensive, or sensitive--and listen to his/her feedback.

Reserved

- When you are at your best, you are a resolute and independent person who is not easily intimidated, and who can take the heat during difficult times.
- After important meetings, check with others to make sure you got the same message they did. You can rely on social consensus as a guide to action.
- Your toughness and independence are desirable qualities in some situations, but they can prevent you from listening to feedback; you need to be aware of this and make extra efforts to profit from the coaching and advice of your friends.
- Your tendency to be somewhat direct and blunt can affect your ability to enroll people in your ideas and build a team.
- Although you may prefer to work alone--especially when you are under pressure--you need to get out of your office and talk with your staff each day. This may be difficult at first, but it is a very important way for you to show concern and try to listen.

Leisurely

- You are independent, socially skilled, and able to say "no" diplomatically. You make few demands of others, except to be left alone to do your work in your own way.
- You see more incompetence in the world than others do. Although you may think others are naive, you could profit from their optimism and trust.
- Understand that you may become irritable when others try to coach you. Allow yourself to be more easily influenced by friends or family, and more willing to do the little extra things they ask you to do.
- Limit the promises you make to others, but be sure to fulfill the promises and commitments you do make.

Imaginative

- When you are at your best, you are a colorful, visionary, and stimulating person. Others will appreciate your imagination, your vision, and your creative thinking.
- Remember to communicate clearly in order to avoid your ideas from getting lost or not getting implemented
- Your career will develop most productively if you focus on those ideas that seem most interesting to others, not you. In this way, more of your ideas will get turned into action.
- You probably need to partner with someone who may be less creative, but who is better at implementation. You will need some assistance in bringing your ideas to fruition, and the best way to do this is to work with someone who likes your ideas and wants to help you implement them.
